Game Developer C# (w/m/x)

For immediate placement we are looking for a full-time game developer for our location in Gumpoldskirchen, Austria.

From the idea all the way to realization - in our Game Studio '707 Games' you are involved in the whole process of game development. We are a motivated and dynamic team of game designers, mathematicians, sound technicians, developers and software testers.

Join us to continue our success story and become part of the team! Apply now!

YOUR TASKS

- You develop and implement high-quality online slot games using C# within our internal framework, writing clean, maintainable and well-structured code
- You act as a mentor, providing day-to-day technical guidance for the development team, motivating and supporting engineers, and fostering a positive and resilient team environment, especially when priorities or requirements evolve
- You analyse, refine and document technical and functional requirements, collaborating closely with Game Design, Technical Artists, QA and international development partners
- You coordinate technical implementations, monitor and contribute to development progress, identify technical risks, drive continuous improvements, and support the onboarding and mentoring of software engineers
- You act as the primary technical contact for our external development partner (Greentube) and ensure effective technical coordination across all stakeholders

YOUR PROFILE

- Several years of professional experience with C# and solid knowledge of modern software engineering practices, including Scrum, Jira and Git
- Experience leading or coordinating small software development teams in a Technical Lead, Functional Lead, Scrum Lead or comparable role
- Experience in game development, ideally within the casino or online gaming industry
- You thrive in an agile environment where priorities and requirements can evolve, maintain a positive and solution-oriented mindset, and inspire your team to stay focused and motivated throughout change
- Strong communication skills and solid command of English

OUR OFFER

- Flexible working hours (flextime) and partial remote work
- Family team spirit and regular team events
- Needs-based training and professional development
- Excellent subsidized staff canteen (which offers vegetarian and vegan options)
- Various perks and company discounts
- Good public transport connections and a parking lot for employees
- A salary for this position starting from € 50,000 gross per year. However, the actual salary per year is negotiable depending on your qualifications and experience
